

Appendix 1: Transcription of Furman's map on page 7Remarks on the written Sketch

- A. The Wharf and stores of Samuel Jackson and George Hicks from which many suppose the pestilence took to rise in consequence of large quantities of putrid fish being stored there.
- B. The places where the ship Diana lay
- C. The house in which the fever made its first appearance
- D. The residence of John Wells Esqr.
- E. The house in which Thomas Ott sickened and died
- F. The mansion house, owned by Alexander Robinson Esqr and in which John Ward Esqr. died.
- G. The fences erected by the trustees and justices.
- H. "Toby Philpots"._
- I. The stone store of Henry Waring Esqr.
- K. Thomas Armstrong's Tavern ._
- L. The Brick store Jonathan Thompson Esqr.
- M. Furman Tuttle's and Mrs. Vanderveers
- N. Residence of Mr. S. S. Newman ._
- O. Henry Waring Esqr. house ._
- P. House of Mr. David Kimberly
- Q. Step ladder to ascend the hill from Furman Street.
- R. A road leading up the hill

Signed by Furman

Brooklyn